I am going to see a play at the Macomb Center.

The Macomb Center is a special building called a theatre.

The Macomb Center is a big building!

When I get inside I will be in a big room called the lobby.

The lobby has lots of signs and mirrors.

There are stairs in the lobby, I should hold onto the stair rail on the way up or down the stairs.

The lobby can be loud; I can ask to cover my ears if it is too loud (or I can use my headphones.)

A nice person called an usher will help me find my seat. My seat will be in a big room called the auditorium.

I might sit next to people I don't know, that's ok. I will stay in my seat during the show.

When the show starts the lights might go down,
that is ok.

When the show starts I should be quiet.

The lights might be different colors, that is ok.

After the show, I will hold hands with my family member as we go through the lobby and out of the building.

Bye-bye Macomb Center, see you next time!
